

SOCIAL WORK

Social workers are a diverse group of professionals who share a commitment to helping enhance the well-being of people, communities, and society. They have a rich history of striving for social, economic, and environmental justice, advocating for human rights, competently providing services for clients at every stage of life, and engaging in lifelong learning. Faculty in the Department of Social Work maintain active ties to community agencies that address a variety of issues including health, aging, substance abuse, and mental health services. Ask our Social Work faculty how you can qualify for an accelerated (one year) Master of Social Work degree!
